ATTACHED CORRESPONDENCE

H

I am not at all clear what effect the impending dissolution of the Task Force will have on this matter. Obviously the original proposal from Jim Reeves presupposed eventual resumption of testing at EPC about as was done in the past. It may be that the entire matter is somewhat academic at the moment. I doubt if there is much that can be said at the present and probably all we can do is to wait until some sort of test operations are proposed in the future. We will certainly know about them as soon as anyone and we should be prepared to make an early recommendation as to the organization of the Rad-safe group.
